eFileCabinet CloudView

www.eFileCabinet.com

Many accounting professionals want the security of using their software on their own desktop or local computer. They get to exercise control, ownership of sensitive client files, and manage their business without having to go to the cloud or web. eFileCabinet's CloudView enables these desktop-bound users to not only have their local hard-drive stored data backed up to the cloud, but it creates a future 'bridge' to enable them to transition to entirely working on the cloud with no local software installed.

CloudView provides immediate document security, backup and redundancy capabilities while enabling customers to feel comfortable accessing their data in the cloud. CloudView even utilizes similar software interface as the desktop version of eFileCabinet to improve comfort. This provides customers the confidence that having a cloud-only version of their software could also be feasible when they are ready in the future.
