

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us environment, KPMG LLP announced that its Trade & Customs Services practice is expanding its U.S./Global export controls and sanctions service line with the addition of a ...

Jan. 31, 2019

In response to growing market demands and client challenges in a complex trade environment, KPMG LLP announced that its Trade & Customs Services practice is expanding its U.S./Global export controls and sanctions service line with the addition of a range of innovative tools and technology, increased professional staff, and the hiring of a new leader with extensive experience to head the growing initiative.

Joining the U.S. audit, tax and advisory firm as a partner and national and global leader of export controls and sanctions is Steven Brotherton, a leading authority on U.S. export controls and sanctions, who brings more than 20 years of experience to KPMG. Most recently, he was with Sandler, Travis & Rosenberg, PA, an international trade, customs and export firm, where he led its export controls and sanctions

Hello. It looks like you're using an ad blocker that may prevent our website from working properly. To receive the best experience possible, please make sure any blockers are switched off and refresh the page.

If you have any questions or need help you can email us service offering, with new leadership and additional experienced talent, will enable us to better assist clients as they seek increased guidance and tools to help navigate today's disruptive and constantly changing trade terrain."

With its expansion, KPMG's U.S./Global export controls and sanctions service line will offer clients a new set of technology solutions to address trade compliance needs, including through the use of artificial intelligence (AI), bots, and other innovative resources.

These tools and technology will supplement a range of comprehensive current services designed to assist companies in effectively and efficiently complying with a complex regime of domestic and international export control laws and regulations, encompassing export licensing and authorizations, sanctions and embargoes, anti-boycotts, and government reporting.

KPMG's Trade & Customs Services practice is one of the largest among the Big 4 accounting firms, providing a broad array of services from strategy development to technology-enablement.

Advisory • Artificial Intelligence • Technology

CPA Practice Advisor is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors.

© 2024 Firmworks, LLC. All rights reserved