Fishbowl Warehouse offers complete part tracking, supporting inventory tracking for multiple warehouses. The product offers an unlimited number of custom fields, with users able to track the details they wish. Multi-currency capability is offered in the application, and the product supports customer discounts and variable pricing. Product reorder levels can be set in Fishbowl, and users can assign a substitute product should inventory be depleted prior to restocking. The product also supports multiple ship-to addresses, and tracks complete product history from initial purchase order to product sales.

Fishbowl also includes serialized tracking of all inventory, with users able to track inventory by vendor, lot, revision, or tag number. Users can also track inventory by barcode, using the mobile app. Along with barcode tracking, users can create and print custom barcodes in Fishbowl if desired. Images and other documents can be added to any product file, and the manufacturing edition of Fishbowl includes build-to-order capability, multi-level bill of materials and both standard and configurable kitting and assembly capability.

Fishbowl also includes a Pricing Rule module in the Sales group that allows pricing to be automatically adjusted based on variables such as order quantity, customer, day, product purchased, or average cost. Pricing can also be set in tiers if desired. The Apply Price Adjustment feature offers a variety of pricing options with adjustments made for markdowns, margin, percent, or fixed price and customer groups can be created, with special pricing rules applied to each group. Fishbowl also supports multiple inventory valuation methods including LIFO, FIFO, Average, and Standard Cost.

Fishbowl offers more than 150 inventory and manufacturing reports in the Reports module. Reports offer some customization capability, and users can request a completely customized report directly from Fishbowl at an additional cost. Inventory reports available include Inventory Availability, Inventory Variance,
