Wolters Kluwer

The line between personal and professional technology continues to blur. With nearly one in five adults accessing a smart speaker in their home (according to Voicebot.ai™ research), voice technology is poised to impact the professional workspace. In response, Wolters Kluwer enhanced its award-winning CCH AnswerConnect, the answer-oriented tax research platform, with voice enabled search.

Now, customers can activate the voice assistant and verbally ask CCH AnswerConnect Tax Assistant various federal tax questions and it will either read the expert answer back or run a search to retrieve the best match. Professionals find what they need quickly, without disrupting their workflow, and move on to complete tasks with increased accuracy, efficiency and productivity. CCH® AnswerConnect Tax Assistant provides the right content at the point of need. Voice functionality allows customers to ask their tax questions without having to stop what they're working on and start a research session.
